What Differentiates Humans from Animals?

- ~ Ability to think
- ~ Knowledge acquisition

COGNITIVE COMPETENCE

Cognitive competence

- refers to the cognitive processes that comprise
 - a) creative thinking, which includes various creative thinking styles, such as legislative, global, and local thinking styles; and
 - b) critical thinking, which includes reasoning, making inferences, self-reflection, and coordination of multiple views.

Cognitive competence

The ability,

- to develop and apply the cognitive skills (core skill that your brain uses to think, read, learn, remember, reason, and pay attention) of self-talk,
- the reading and interpretation of social cues,
- using steps for problem solving and decision-making,
understanding the perspective of others,
- understanding behavioral norms,
- a positive attitude toward life, and self-awareness.

Understanding Critical thinking

Importance of Critical Thinking

- How to make the BEST/RATIONAL decision(s)?
- How to verify the INFORMATION, KNOWLEDGE and FACTS?
- How to ensure we are Not confused by “authority”, “inadequate evidence”, or “self-contradictory beliefs”?
- Socrates firstly established the importance of critical thinking before we accept ideas as worthy of belief.

Socrates (470BC-399BC)

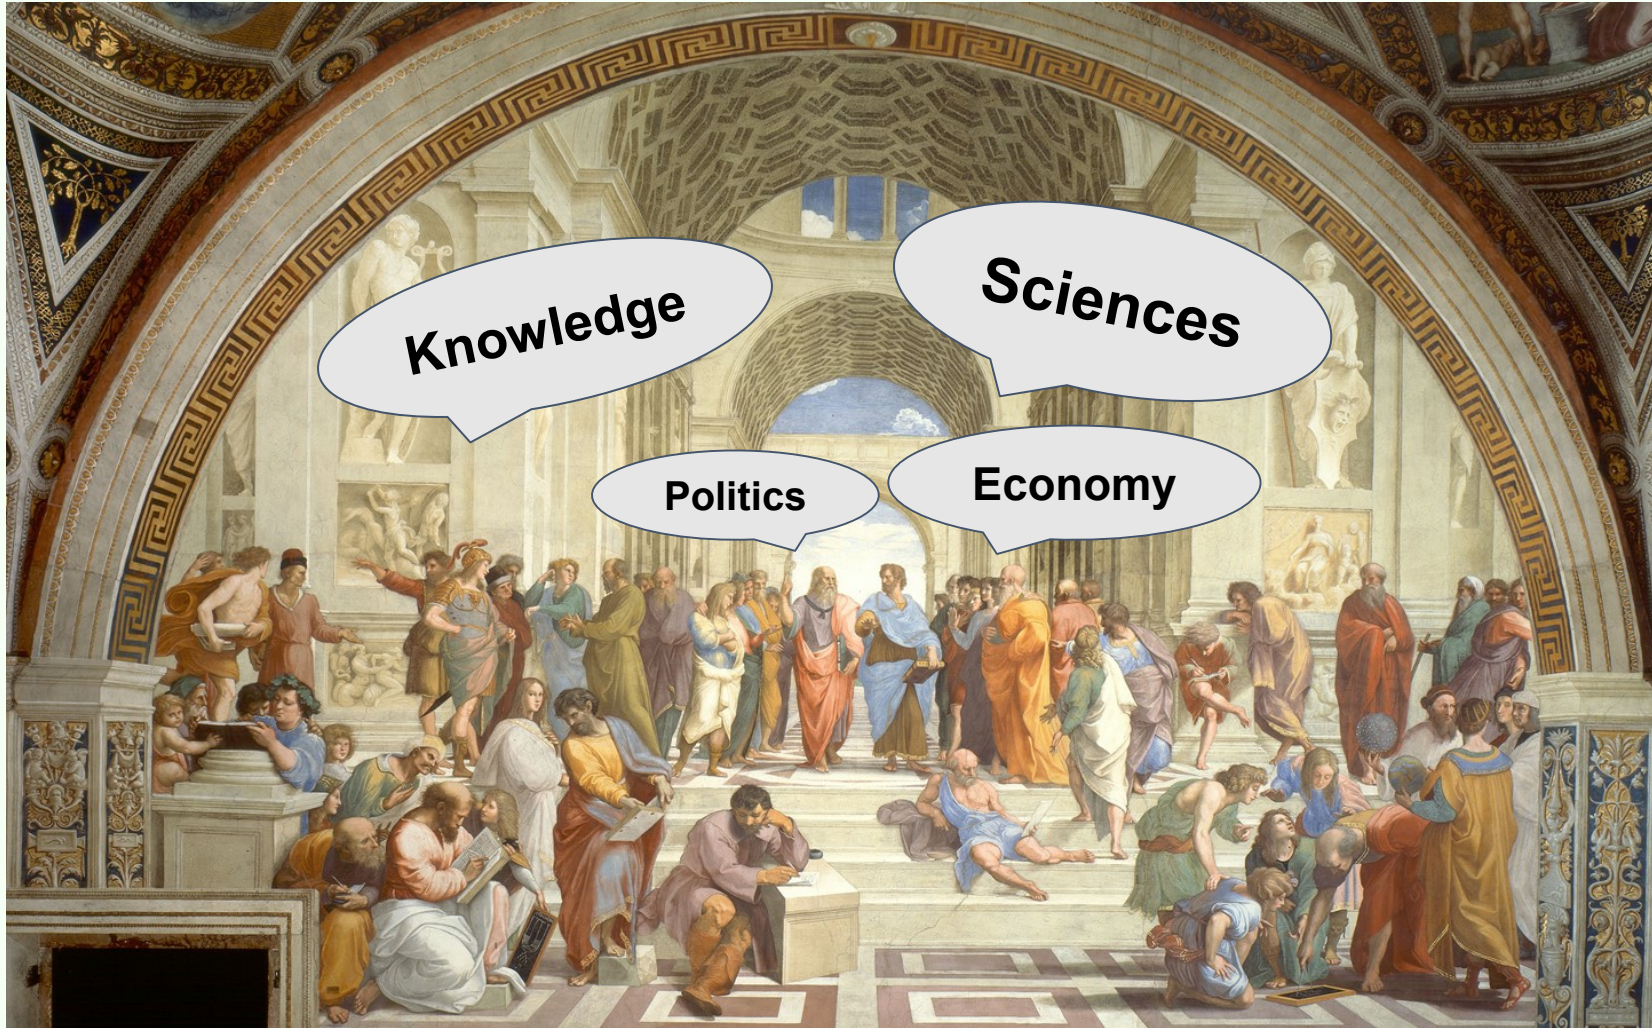

Critical Thinking

Critical thinking is the intellectually disciplined process of actively and skillfully conceptualizing, applying, analyzing, synthesizing, and/or evaluating information gathered from, or generated by, observation, experience, reflection, reasoning, or communication, as a guide to belief and action.

(Scriven & Paul, 1987)

How to verify the
INFORMATION, KNOWLEDGE and FACTS?

How to ensure we are Not confused by “authority”, “inadequate evidence”, or
“self-contradictory beliefs”?

If you want to know more about the ways to verify the INFORMATION, KNOWLEDGE and FACTS,

please watch a video lecture about the concepts of Misinformation, Disinformation, and Propaganda.

After watching the video, you are required to answer the questions in Activity 3.1.
